

PENTANGLE

Established 1992

Editors

Jozephine Bliss

Charlotte Kalfas

B W Z I L I 8 W Z \ M Z

: I K P M T ; Q b M U W Z M

; a L V M a * I S M Z

2 ] T Q I 5 I V V Q V O

Faculty Advisor

Dr. Andrea Gazzaniga

Cover Art

Pentangle's History

Pentangle, a journal of student writing, debuted in 1992 at Northern Kentucky University and is sponsored by the Pi Omega chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, the International English Honor Society. Pi Omega is committed to the principles of Sigma Tau Delta, as stated in the international pledge: "To

Close Reading: < P M 4 I J a Z Q V \ P

Andrew Molloy

1 V \ W L I a \ X [ W [ Q Q M M \ Q [ I V M U W \ Q W V \ P I \ P I [ I ]

\_W \P Q V O [ # ÅZ[\T a \P I\ PM PI[ KIZZQML \P Q[ XI[[ Q W N e p N M e Z h e G o d w / t o e O Q e d n M a n d M e k n a ] ] d a wish. Theseus says: he has held onto it even when his father was in Athens; and secondly, that Hippolytus will only reveal this passion if his father is missing. Therefore, Racine reveals that passion is inexorable because Hippolytus is unable to continue hiding his unaddressed passion that he has been holding onto for a prolonged period of time, only revealing it when he cannot bear to carry it any longer.

) V W \P M Z K P I Z I K \M Z \P I\ PI[ IV Q V M ` W Z I J T M XI[[ Q W V J M K I S ] P M L W M R < P M [ M ] V [ ¼ [ [ X X W [ M L XI[[ Q W V I V L \V wife, who has concealed her love for Hippolytus. Similarly to Hippolytus, Phédre is only able to reveal her passion because Theseus is missing. In fact,

8 P u L Z M ÅZ[\ I V V W ] V K M [ \W P M Z [ M Z ^ I V \ 7 M V W V M \ P t a k i n g h e r a w a y f r o m Q h M T h u s , j i Q h e \ c a r a c t e r Theseus is willing to
for too long" while living in Athens (Phé.2.277). In confusion, Oenone

Z M X T Q M [ I V L I [ S [ ¼ [ Q T \a W N _ P I ' o 8 P u Q O V W Z M 7 M V W V M ¼ [ Y M [ \Q W V J ] \ [ P M M ^ M V \ ] I T T a K T I Q n b w [ t h a t t h e p a s s i o n o f t h e c h a r a c t e r s h a v e b e e n e x p o s e d , i t i s p o s s i b l e stating, "I am in love, yes, I am in love," thus showing that her love for someone consequently causes herself guilt. In addition, Phédre claims that the person who causes her guilt and that the person whom she loves is "that noble prince/[she] prosecuted," which is "Hippolytus" (Phé. 2.330 & 338-340). Indeed, Phédre ultimately conceals her love for Hippolytus until she cannot bear it any longer (just like Hippolytus conceals his passion for Aricia), and because King Theseus is away from Athens, Phédre feels as though this is the—maybe her only—opportunity to express her unaddressed, inexorable passion for Hippolytus. In fact, if Phédre is able to control her passion for Hippolytus, why does she express it when she feels as though the king is never going to return to Athens? Aricia is not trying to

[ ] Z Z M X \Q \Q W ] [ T a M ` X Z M [ [ \P Q [ L M [ Q Z M [ W \P I\ [ P M K I V [ I ^ M < P M [ M ] [ ¼ [ N M M T Q V O [ # [ P M is trying to avoid being condemned by her husband. Thus, because Phédre reveals her passion for Hippolytus while Theseus is away from Athens, she

M V I J T M [ : I K Q V M \W K W V ÅZ U \P I\ XI[[ Q W V Q [ I V Q V M ` W Z I J T M K P I Z I K \M Z Q [ \Q K

King Theseus is another character that has an inexorable passion, M [ X M K Q I T T a N W Z P Q [ _ Q N M 8 P u L Z M < P M [ M ] [ ¼ [ Q V M ` W Z I J T M XI[[ Q W V N W Z 8 P u L Z M
however, is revealed once he arrives and discovers, incorrectly, that Hippolytus is in love with Phédre. To manipulate the king, Oenone accuses Hippolytus of loving the queen, an accusation which antagonizes Theseus.
Subsequently, when Theseus comes face-to-face with Hippolytus, he says, "the thunderbolt [Zeus, God of Thunder] has spared you too long," which shows that Theseus is immensely upset about the deceptive news that

P M P I[ Z M K M Q ^ M L N Z W U 8 P u L Z M ¼ [ [ M Z ^ I V \ 8 P u H i p p o l y t u s f r o m A t h e n s a s h e s t a t e s , " G e t o u t , ] u n l e s s y o u w a n t t o d i e among the trash I have swept into ditches," thereby showing how he even wants his son to be out of his presence—possibly even existence (Phé.5.84-85). More importantly, however, once Hippolytus leaves, Theseus prays to

That moment has come. Grant me my wish.

Now! Avenge a heart-broken father.

Break your wrath on the herd of this traitor [Hippolytus]

; U I[ P \P M J W V M [ W N P Q [ M z Z W V \M Z a 8 P u

In other words, Theseus calls upon Neptune to murder Hippolytus reveals his indignant attitude and prays for his son to die, it is clear that Theseus has an inexorable passion for his wife that will not tolerate anyone taking her away from him. Thus, j i Q h e \ c a r a c t e r Theseus is willing to murder his own kin—his own blood—so that he keeps his wife, Racine Z I M s t a t e s c l e a r l y t h a t T h e s e u s carries an inexorable passion.

It is also clear that the passion of the characters have been exposed, it is possible

< P M [ M ] [ I T [ W J I V Q [ P M [

"Now my error of judgement
Is so monumental and plain 4 M ][ O W _ M M X I \ U a [ W V ¼ [ J W L a 4 M \ ][ M U J Z I K M \ P M T Q \ \ T M W N P Q U \ P I \ ¼ [
And expiate the madness of my prayer" (Phé.5.487-491).

In short, Theseus admits that he made an "error" that is praying for his son to die, an error that is "so monumental and plain" that ~~his~~ "weep"

I \ P Q [ [ W V ¼ [ J W L a J M K I ] [ M P M Q [ Å T T M L _ Q \ P [ I L V M [ [ cōnctēalChēQpassiōn fōr MīzpōMūs, IsHe dies a slow death—a physical agony—thus evincing how Racine illustrates that physical agony is guilt that will never be extinguished (Phé.5.487-489). Not mention, when Theseus uses the word "expiate," he further implies how guilty he feels, thus enhancing and reinforcing an understanding of his guilt. In fact,

_ P a _ W ] T L < P M [ M [ Q W O \ N J M W [ \ z M X [ a K P W T W O Q K I T I O W V a ' 7 V T a _ I N I \ P M Z Q V K I X M W T M L W W N Z \ T N Y Z W M U I X [ a K P W T W O Q K I T I O W V a I N \ M Z
K I ] [ Q V O P Q [ [ W V ¼ [ P L M I M P [ P M K S Q M T M L P Q [ [ W V P M _ Q T T P I ^ M \ remember his actions and feel guilty about it for as long as he is, a true psychological pain, a perpetual psychological agony, thus, through

< P M [ M ] [ ¼ [ I K \ Q M \ M I T : I K P Q W _ M I \ z M ` X Z M [ [ M L X I [ [ Q W V [ X M K Q Å K I T T a
< P M [ M ] [ ¼ [ X I [ [ Q W V N W Z 8 A P \ M L S \ Q [ X K a K P J W T M W O N Q K X I Z I O W V

Similar to all the other characters, Phédre does not avoid the agony that is dealt in the play; indeed, she endures psychological agony because her passion is unaddressed. In the beginning of the play, Phédre contemplates the idea of death and how she deserves to die, at least, to have never been born. In fact, when talking to Oenone, Phédre says, "I detest my life," and "I would have preferred to die," because she Hippolytus and is unable to express her love for him considering her

U T Z Z Q I O M _ Q \ P < P M [ M ] [ 8 P u L Q I \ M T \ T [ M \ M I Z U R M \ Q U U M

preceding quotations, Phédre decides to talk to her servant and says, "If only you will let me die quietly and stop lashing me with these pointless

Z M X Z W I K P M [ I V L [ \ W X U I S Q V O M I K P N M Z \ W \ Q \ \ W S M M X U M I T Q ^ illustrating her desire to die (Phé.1.421-423). Phédre is so consumed with the idea of death, how is she not enduring psychological agony? Think about it: Because after perpetual desire of death, Phédre explicitly admits that she is thinking improperly and would rather ~~die~~ live because she has not been able to express her love for Hippolytus, and therefore, through

8 P u L Z M ¼ [ W J [ M [ [ Q W V _ Q [ \ M \ L Q M B M P V ] \ V \ M Q Z M U I S M passion, as well as expressed passion, provokes psychological agony

= V T Q S M W \ P M Z K F Z I B P K U M Z M \ V P M M _ W M M a [ ] z M Z [ N Z W U
X [ a K P W T W O Q K I T I O Z W ] W a L J L N Z K M I [ [ M I L W X N [ Z Q M N Z W \ P M [ ] z M physical agony as well. Indeed, near the end of the play, Phédre announces that she "was insane with an incestuous passion," thus revealing that

[ P M _ I [ Q V T W ^ M _ Q \ P 0 Q X X W T a \ ] [ 8 P u
"incestuous passion" has caused her to choose a "slower conveyance to the land of the dead," or in other words, a slower and more painful way to death (Phé. 5.471-472). In fact, Phédre claims that she is "drunk on an ~~in~~ ~~in~~ poison" that her sister brought to Athens, a poison that is causing P M Z \ W L Q M [ T W _ T a 8 P u 1 V I L L Q \ Q W
"feel [her] pulses pushing [the poison] ~~icyly~~ into [her] feet, hands, and roots of [her] hair," which only begins to describe the chilling, agonizing L M I \ P \ P I \ 8 P u L Z M Q [ [ ] z M Z Q V O 8 P u
<

L M I \ P \ P I \ 8 P u L Z M Q [ [ ] z M Z Q V O 8 P u remember his actions and feel guilty about it for as long as he is, a true psychological pain, a perpetual psychological agony, thus, through

Andrew Molloy

IOWVa JMKI][M \PM KPIZIK\MZ[¼ XI[[QWV[ IZM QVM

\ P I\|P \M I L M Z M` X T W Z\W\|MQTV K*\V\Y\|TWA\ \S\|I M Z\N\|IM TV\ J M a projection of the thoughts and ideas of Nelly in regard to the events. This
W X M V [ \ P M L W W Z N W Z Z\QTKU Q \|Z\|N\|T\| \ \|V\Q\W\|W\|S\|W\|P\|N\ K
W\|P\|N\|M` \ Q V N] Z\|P M Z M` X F \|W\|P\|N\|Q\|X\|G\|H\|S\|O\|P\|D\|U\|U\|P\|E\|Q\|A\|I\|C\|R\|G\|Z\|P\|T\|W\|g\|Z\|A[ X P W _ Q\|t\| M [ W N

Works Cited

<PM !! ILIX\I\QWV WX\[ \W NWTTW_ U]KP WN \PM LM\IQT[ WN 0M\PKTQz<sup>1/4</sup>
LMI\P NZWU \PM VW^MT :ITXP .QM VVM<sup>1/4</sup>[ 0M\PKTQz LQM[ NZWU M\XW[]ZM \W\PM
ZIQV IN\MZ [\IZ^QVO PQU[MTN 1\ _WZS[ \W _IZL[ \PM \ZM<sup>1/4</sup> Mr. Yah\IZM W N QM\PKTQz<sup>1/4</sup> [ILQ[U I[ PM X]VQ[PM[ PQU[MTN VMIZ \PM MVL WN PQ[ TQ\N M\A B Possibl Word Vol Literary Studies."8 5 4.), vol. 125, QV \PM IZU[ WN PQ[ TW[\ TW^M <PQ[ LMI\PM_WZS[ \W _IZL<sup>1/4</sup> .QM VVM<sup>1/4</sup>[ IX W\Z\JSTOR, JSTOR, www.jstor.org/
WN 0M\PKTQz _Q\P 1PQ[ [ILQ[U PQ[ MUW\QWVIT ITWWN\Name4108297 V PQ[ LMXZM[[Q^M
XMZ[WVITQ\ a° 0IQZM ;IZOMV\ I[ 0M\PKTQz LQM[ QV [WTQ]\LM IVL Ja I [TW_ [zMZQVO QVÆQK\ML Ja PQ[ W_V PIVL[ <PMZM Q\ZM<sup>1/4</sup> Bronte's Wuthering Heights by Richard J. Dunn, Norton, 2003
QV NZWV\ WN I XWZ\IT WN TQOP\ \PI\ IKKWUXIVQM[ \PQ[ \W [PW_ \PI\ 0M\PKTQz
Q[ QV NIK\ ZM]VQ\ML _Q\P PMZ QV I PWTa [XMK\IKTM Erily Bronte's Wuthering Heights by Peter Kosminsky, performances
I[ 0M\PKTQz NI[ PQU[MTN \W JM ZM]VQ\ML _Q\P PQ[ I\W [T\W\ZM\QOW\]QV\WV PMI^MVTa XIZILQ[M WN LMI\PM <PQ[ LMXQK\QWV KMZ\IQVTA [XMIS[ \W 0M\PKTQz<sup>1/4</sup>[
sadistic nature and his skewed views of Catherine.

sadistic nature and his skewed views of Catherine. The author's attitude towards the characters is evident throughout the novel. For example, when Mr. Rochester blesses Isabella, he does so with a sense of superiority and entitlement. He shows no remorse for his actions or the suffering he has caused others. This lack of emotional depth is a key theme in the novel, highlighting the author's critical view of the social hierarchy and the treatment of marginalized individuals.

< P W ] O P A T U I L I X \ I \ Q W V [ W N Wuthering Heights have deviated from and Charlotte Riley, PBS, 2009.
the novel, one can never truly argue that they deviate from the primary narrative as even the primary narrative does not evoke a full, objective story. As Ian Balfour writes, "In adaptation, the trick is often to do by any visual means necessary- or by primarily visual means- something of what was done verbally, in the more or less nebulous spirit of the text" (971). Every element W N \ P M [ M I L I X \ I \ Q W V [ [ W ] O P \ \ W Q V K W Z X W Z \ I \ M \ P M [ X Q Z Q \ W N * Z W V \ x ¼ [ V W ^ M T \ W M ` X T W Z M J M a W V L \ P M T Q \ M Z I Z a J W ] V L [ X ] \ Q V X T I K M Ja \ P M V W ^ M T ¼ [ V I Z Z I \ W Z I V L to bring viewers closer to the true nature of the relationship shared between + I \ P M Z Q V M I V L 0 M I \ P K T Q z < P M [ M I L I X \ I \ Q W V [ M ` X T W Z M U ] T \ Q X T M N I K M \ [ W N \ P Q [ relationship and continue to further the horizons of the literary landscape of Wuthering Heights.

Men Eat Chicken and Lucy Gets It: Sadism in Victorian Literature

Calla Thomas

This will not have a happy-end~~ing~~. This essay will note~~d~~ with a

They state, the reader is compelled to interpret the meaning of the text the author presents; furthermore, the reader is viewed as having the responsibility to successfully interpret what the author is saying to understand the deeper meaning of the text by asking questions and challenging authors (LaZansky 7). This deeper meaning is embedded in the society the reader is reading from and the society the author is speaking out (LaZansky 8). This does not mean the two societies are connected, it means that the deeper meaning

The Victorians moved this balanced gave all the power of the text shared responsibility (LaZansky 8-9). Greeks loved public theater and the Victorians deemed theater to be immoral and low (Dickens 1). With this morality imposed on the theater the lower-classes people lost power with the text, because the Victorians changed the method of communication (Dickens 1). With theater under the Greeks and Romantics themselves physically engaged with a text. The mention of mass publication and the shift of values from spoken to written text, coupled with the development of a class-based economy order-based power-dynamic between the reader and the author. Not every Victorian citizen could read written text or was every Victorian citizen "trained" on how to properly engage with written text. Victorian society was undergoing cities and industrialization where devouring the sanctity of the farms (Dickens 4). Industry was disrupting the order of the Romantics and imposing a new order. The Victorians who have the diminished the readers role and responsibility to understand the deeper nation lead to a strong sensational identity.

The author has consumed the authority of the reader by providing all the meaning to the text. This is a sadistic tendency reader-author relationships formed by the Victorians. The readers feel satisfaction because [ \ Q T T O Q ^ M ] P W Z L Q T P [M Q [ Ä F M M a J R X K M ] [ W W U I \ M Z how distorted the balance is. For the Victorians to maintain enough power for global expansion they needed their people now order (which provides security) and to have pride in their nation. This can only be done if people put their identity into their nation. By diminishing the role of the reader and shifting the values of the word from spoken to written, the Victorians created a relationship where the reader has almost no choice, but to identify with its nation.

When we interpret the word sadistic there is a notion of evil attached to Q; W V M O W ZM^ MU V W \ ] [ Q V O [ I L Q [ \ Q K _ Q \ P \ V of evil, but as a term to help us visualize the interplay that occurs with the author-reader relationship. The reader-author relationship is currently viewed as a stable construction, but is not. There are situations that occur where the author becomes the reader and the reader becomes the author, in other words the roles are interchangeable. We see the roles of readers and participants interchange in many Victorian novels. For example, in Dracula by Bram Stoker we can see this occur with the characters of Jonathan Harker and Wilhelmina Harker. The story begins with Jonathan Harker being the narrator and has multiple narrators taking over throughout the text. All the characters have a place in the story, however, the reader of narration is controlled. Dracula begins with an ambiguous edict, "How these pages have been placed in sequence will become manifest in the reading of them. All needless matters have been eliminated, so that a history almost variance with the possibilities of after-day belief may stand forth as simple fact (Stoker 1)." This ordering of the text is not unintentional. The Victorians were people acting with purpose. What Stoker is doing here is ordering or commanding how the text should be read. The reader does not have to comply with the ordering, because books and written words valuable by society the reader unconsciously consents. The reader gives up their power to critically engage with the text, because the author commands, all this is done for a place within the larger national identity.

< P Q [ M ` K P X W D I K I L V M J M Q J M L I [ [ I L Q [ \ Q K ; I L Q [ U Michael Stone in his work, Sexual Sadism: A PoE~~lit~~is considered to have eight varieties; lust-murder, mutilation of a corpse, injury to a woman
^ Q I [ \ I J J Q V O A E I O M T T I \ \ W [ V L W A T K M U W N V Z W N M U
[ a U J W T Q K [ I L Q [ U K ] \ \ Q V O I _ W U I V ¼ [ P I Q Z Z I P M her story), sadism via us~~ean~~ object, and ideational sadism (Stone).
} P W V M I T [ W [ \ I M [ L V Q M U Z O D [ \ W W Q I M \ \ Q V O W z _ Q I I K \ Q W V [ W N Z P ] [ Z W ] Z M M _ W U I V M \ K , Z I K ] T I K T the description; it is a story centered around a lust-murder where(a woman) gets stabbed by Arthur (a man), Arthur is a husband~~and~~ and \ P M > Q K \ W Z O M V X K O K Q M A K L ] \ Q M [ I [ P ] [ J I V L [ I V L U chastity of the woman and the integrity of the family. If Arthur is a good
P ] [ J I V L P M Q T T M X Z M A M M E K N f 41.229 15.1>1.(ion13.2lus8.5(w)2

Deviant Desire and Guilt in Oscar Wilde's The Picture of Dorian Gray

Angela Crout-Mitchell

0 Q [ \ W Z Q K I T T a * Z Q \ I Q V ¼ [ > Q K \ W Z Q I V ) O M Q [ K

When our eyes met, I felt that I was growing pale. A curious sensation of error came over me. I knew that I had come face to face with someone whose mere personality was so fascinating that, if I allowed it to do so, it would absorb my whole nature, my whole soul, my very art itself (Wilde 10).

* I [ Q T O I T [ T L _ M Z K Z Q X \ Q W V W N P Q [ Å Z [ \ Q U X
instantly encompasses the sexual and artistic tone for the rest of the novel. He admits to his budding feelings of ardent and forbidden desire and love, while drawing attention to the relevance of art as a thing of value. It is clear that Wilde, through Hallward, makes the connection between the soul, nature, and art. The physicality of the passage also enhances the connection to desire. The images of the eyes, faces, and the physical sensation of terror are all contrived to clearly display the impression of Dorian Gray as a work of art and something to be desired.

Dorian. The article describes the relationship between desire and guilt.

And in spite of considerable textual testimony that to the contrary: the “curious sensation of terror” that arrests the artist when he meets the show stopping face of a beautiful boy prophesies a L M [ \ Q V M A W ] P Q X W [ M L \ W \ P M K W V K T ] [ Q W V W ] \ [ \ V 0 Z t A T _ I Z L ¼ [ [ M ` ] I T ] \\ Z I K \ Q W V \ P Z I his identity rather than rendering it distinct; it threatens to force him not from the closet, but rather to the vanishing point (Nunokawa 312).

Hallward struggles with this element of identity crisis throughout the novel, with the object of his desire, Dorian. It is later exhibited in his desire to control Dorian, while wallowing in his confusion about his own motives and desire for the boy.

With perhaps the exception of Sybil Vane, Basil Hallward is the only character in The Picture of Dorian Gray who appears to have any reverence for the Victorian code of morality. It is not a question of knowing that decadence exists. He does. His appreciation and adherence to social order can be said to be his strength. His desire for Dorian, which required him to step outside of normalcy, became a tortuous practice in denial. It can be argued that it was his resistance to the sublime, evil, and aesthetically pleasing was the catalyst of his decline, rather than the desire itself.

, M^Q I V\ , M[ Q Z M I V L / ] Q T \ Q V 7[ K I Z ? Q T L M ¼ [ < P

The Victorian ageironically enough, ushered in the era of the [ ]La WN [ M` )KKWZLQVO \W ,MV\WV $\frac{1}{4}$ [ IZ\QKTM JMMV XMZKMQ^ML U PWUWIM`LT .MV\WV <

< P I \ Q [ \ W [ | a \ P M ! \ P K M V \ ] Z a » P W U W [ M ` ]
who engaged in sexual acts with same-sex partners, though from a

V [ W ~~Initially Settled~~ heterosexuality. Consequently, any person who had an opposite-sex partner, though practiced same-

[M` ZMTI\QWV[ I\ _MTT \W]TL VW\ PI^M QL
I\ QV\ MZXM TT\| M\ I\ »\Q[M\ T\% \| ZI\PM

1[ QV\ MZXMII(ME 1[ »JQ[M ]II A 5]\ ZTTF
, MV\WV

< P M W M T L W M~~K~~ T Q M~~K~~ Q M T a U M V \ Q W V * I [Q M~~V~~ M D W U I outsideof Dorian Therefore it is unclear whether he would have fallen into

outside Duran. Therefore, it is unclear whether he would have taken into account the following:

Angela Crout-Mitchell

setting. This time Hedda is the opening character and she is loading her pistol instead of resting, physically demonstrating the power she keeps by symbolism to her guns. Judge Brack, below the window of the garden, is about to enter the house. This scene helps show the importance of power to Hedda, but also her reasons behind the way she acts. The loading of the

+ ; 4 M _ Q [ ¼ + M T \ Q K 1 V A E ] M V K M "

The Voyage of the Dawn Treader as a Modern Immram

Morgan Caudill

Frequently associated with elements of Christianity and strong Biblical

O Z M M L W V , M I \ P _ I \ M Z 1[ T I V L ° 7 V Q I M M X W [ Q M Q I V L 4] K a _ I [\ Z] O _ Q Q P M I V Q \ a 5 Q Q Q Q P M ¼ [ \ ] L a ° U Q M L ? P Q \ T P M I fantastic journe, these challenges are a part reality for many indicating \ P I \ P Q [ R a W \ Z P V Q M T M Å K \ Q W V V Q [ Å T T M L _ Q \ P U I V a \ Z] \ P [ I V M T M U M V \ [ W N reality.

Two notable immrama, The Voyage of St. Brendan's Curragh and Navigation of St. Brendan.
 Sancti Brendani Abbatis V \ I Q W] W J M I Z [ Q M N Q T Q Z M [ \ T he 4 M _ Q [ ¼
 Voyage of the Dawn Treader 4 M _ Q [ _ I [ X I Z \ Q K ] T I Z Navigation T M V K M L Ja \ P M
 (also known as The Voyage of St. Brendan) Scholars have noted these Celtic Q V Æ ] M V K M [ Q V 4 M _ Q [ ¼ _ W Z S 0 N Q M U Z Q T V M H I _ a M Z J W \ P _ Z Q \ M W between Dawn Treader and the Irish immrama. Lawyer notes that this was Irish and "ahome in Irish lore and literature" (33). From a young age Lewis was exposed to Irish myth and folklore, often being told stories Ja \ P Q [ V I V V a _ P M V P M _ I [ I K P 4 Q M T Q [ ¼ W M I Z Q à / Q W Z M Q [ \ M [ \ P I \ reveals that he "envisioned it as a sea voyage, what a 'very green and pearly story'" (43). He guesses that Lewis "drew a great deal on the lesser-known odyssey of the medieval legend of St. Brendan and his voyage \ W \ P M 4 8 Z \ W U W Q N M ° 1 V N I K \ 4 N P M Q M Q [ Q W W \ W M L [ P W _ \ P I \ a journey where various islands of the Odyssey and St. Brendan can J M P Z W _ V Q V ° ; _ I V S Q \ W W M M Q M ¼ P M W Z S Q N Z M A E M K \ Q ^ M W
 the medieval immrama, emphasizing the sea-voyage.

For sixty years the hermit has lived on the island, also described as a rock, on small portions of food. Paul greets each man by name, demonstrating his prophetic spirit. After telling the men the story of how he came to the rock, he too foresees the remainder of their journey and gives his blessing,

\MTTQVO \PMU 18 ZWKMM L VW_ WV aW]Z ^WaIOM°aW] [PITT XZWKMM L \W \PI
TIVL aW] [MMS \PM UW[\ PWTa WN ITT TIVL[°IN\ MZ _PQKP CJ\ MNL \VZ \MPTQ\ 80\ WQ\ Q\ W\ N\ WPaNIO MZ[
[IN M T a JIKS \W \PM TIVL WN aW]Z JQZ\ P° 7 1/4 ,WVWOP]M + Pmus@ look into WellPSailing Worth twice theual 6rty days
LMUWV[\Z\IM IV ILPMZMVKM \W /WL 1/4 [ _QTT _PM\PMZ Q\ J They aorkePuploQakniousl volcanic outgroup. Brendan tries to prophetic spirit that allows the protagonists of their respective tales to near the end of their journey.

The travelers among the Dawn Treader encounter a holy hermit very similar to the hermits of the Navigatio and Mael Duin. Like the other two, “[h] is silver beard came down to his bare feet in front and his silver hair hung down to his heels behind” (Lewis 221). Again, he relays information to them, telling Caspian that in order to break the enchantment of the sleeping lords

\PMa U][\ 1[IQT \W \PM ?WZTL 1/4 [ -VL°IVL U][\ KWUM JIKS PI^QVO TMN\ I\ TM\ [\ one of your company behind” (Lewis 225). Like the hermit from Mael Duin, it appears this hermit (Ramandu) has committed an act of sin. However, it Q[ VW\ UILM SVW_V _PI\ PM PI[ LWVM NWZ 1Q\ Q[ VW\ NWZ aW]°\W SVW_ _PI\ faults a star can commit” (Lewis 227). In each of these tales, the holy hermit serves as a prophet towards the end of the journey. His hair long, signifying his age and wisdom, and his holiness serve to cement the value of his prophecy indicating that the men are close to the end of both their physical journey as well as their spiritual journey and that God will continue to guide them.

An encounter with a sea-monster is another common motif found

IUWVO \PM[M \PZMM \ITM[ *ZMVLIV IVL PQ[ KZM_ MVKW]V\ MZ I 1Å[P WN
MVWZUW][ [QbM°[_QUUQVO IN\ MZ \PM JW\ [XW]\QVO NWIU NZWU Q\ [ VW[\ZQT[ and ploughing through the waves in rapid pursuit to devour them”

7 1/4 ,WVWOP]M +P @>1 *ZMVLIV XZla[ NWZ /WL \W PMTX \PMU IVL I UWV[\ MZ IX XMIZ[ IVL SQTT[ \PM UI[[Q^M Å[P 51MT ,]QV MVKW]V\ MZ[ \_W
UWV[\ MZ[ " I OZMI\ Å[P \PI\ PQ[ UMV UQ[\ISM NWZ IV Q[TIVL IVL TI\ MZ IVW\ PMZ monster upon their arrival to an undersea country. The Dawn Treader also encounters its own sea-monster. An “appalling head [rears] itself out of the sea” that belongs to what they realize is a great sea serpent (Lewis 123). As \PM [MZ XMV\ I\ IKS[ \PMU \PM MV\ QZM KZM_ I\ MUX\ [ \W ÅOP\ Q\ Wz M^MV\ ]ITTa succeeding. According to Lawyer, “in medieval bestiaries the whale mistaken for an island is usually equated with the devil, who lures the unwary from the safety of their ship, the church” (325). Here, only one monster is mistaken for an island. However, in all three tales the monsters present a large physical threat to the ships and the crew on them, threatening their safety and the continuance of their journeys.

While many of the islands encountered provide fantastic sights and sustenance for the travelers, the voyages of Brendan, Mael Duin, and the Dawn Treader are not without sorrow and despair. Describing an incident

WV *ZMVLIV 1/4 [ [PQX 4I_aM Z _ZQ\ M [ "
TIVL aW] [MMS \PM UW[\ PWTa WN ITT TIVL[°IN\ MZ _PQKP CJ\ MNL \VZ \MPTQ\ 80\ WQ\ Q\ W\ N\ WPaNIO MZ[
[IN M T a JIKS \W \PM TIVL WN aW]Z JQZ\ P° 7 1/4 ,WVWOP]M + Pmus@ look into WellPSailing Worth twice theual 6rty days
LMUWV[\Z\IM IV ILPMZMVKM \W /WL 1/4 [ _QTT _PM\PMZ Q\ J They aorkePuploQakniousl volcanic outgroup. Brendan tries to
I ^W Q L K W WR NKM Q J ] \W\ R\ W\ P\ ] \ AE I U Q V O [ \W V M [
his coracle. The noise ad stench arerrible, even from a distance.

They escape@eafelybut at a neighboring island, also volcanic, one
W\NP MWVS[ Q[ LZIOOML I_I a N\W Z M \M\ZV[ I VL

Similarly, Mael Duin comes upon an island of 5 0 0 10.5 454.5037 392. come

Similarly, in The Voyage of the Dawn Treader:

[Lucy] realized that the great silvery expanse which she had been

Works Cited

- Bray, Dorothy Ann. "Allegory in the Navigatio Sancti Brendani." The 7 \ P M Z>W\WZ\Q\IM Q V - I Z T a 1 Z Q [ P 4 Q \ Mezitid\ZyM " ) V ) V \ P W T W O a W N + Z Q \ Q K Q [ U
2 W V I \ P I V 5 ? W W L Q V O .W ] Z + W ] Z \ [ 8 Z M [ [ X X

- Clancy Thomas Owen. "Subversion at Sea: Structure, Style and Intent in the Immrama." In P. M. Wooding, ed., The Immrama (Four Courts Press, 2000), pp. 194-225.

- Dillon, Myles. - I Z T a 1 Z Q [The University of Chicago Press, 1948.

- Downing, David C. Into the Wardrobe: C. S. Lewis and the Narnia Chronicles. John Wiley & Sons, 2008.

- Joyce, P.W., translator (2017) The Voyage of Mailluin Project Gutenberg, P \ X [ " _ _ _ O ] \ M V J M Z O W Z O N Q T M [ ) K K M [ B M ] v 2017.

- 0 ]\\IZ + P I Z T M [ ) 1 ;;NMW X4 W4 Q Q1Q V D M O "W1 U M S T Q V O [ W N
Mythlore ^ W T V W ! ! X X

- Lawyer, John E. "Three Celtic Voyages: Brendan, Lewis, and Buechner." Anglican Theological Review 84, no. 2, 2002, pp 319-43.

- Lewis, C.S. The Voyage of the Dawn Treader. HarperCollins, 1952.

- MacKillop, James. 5 a \P  I V L 4 M O. M. Penguin, 1st edition, M + M T \[ 2005. Credo Reference, [http://proxy1.nku.edu/login?url=search.credoreference.com/content/entry/penguin\_mlc/voyages\_to\_the\_beyond/0?institutionId=187 Accessed 13 Nov 2017.

- Matthews, Caitlin. The Celtic Book of the Dead: A Guide to Your Journey to the Celtic Otherworld ; \ 5 | Z \ Q V ¼ [ 8 Z M [ [ ! ]

- McColman, Carl. < P M 4 Q W V < P M 5 W
N Z W U + ; 4. Marquette Press, 2011 Q H

- Patch, Howard Rollin. The OtherWorld: According to Descriptions in Medieval 4 Q \ M Harvard University Press, 1970. pp 27-59

- Swank, Kris. "Extracts from: The Voyager & the Dawnreader & the Voyage of Rover and the Mythmoot III; Ever On." Linthicum, Maryland. 2015.

P_P_U Close Reading: Splintering of Identity in Viet Thanh Nguyen 's The Sympathizer

Rachel Sizemore

< P M K W V K T Q I R W V P W N O T R A S Y / pathizer is back both neatly ties up the rest of the novel while continuing the tone of the novel in _ P Q K P \ P M Z M K L W M Z [ V N V M T T V R Z M U Q V Q Q V K V Z Q M Q J T a in this way; while the narrative is being wound down, the reader gets no break from the tension that is rift through the novel. This is integrab the book, as the narrator also gets no break from the tension and danger in fact, in the conclusion he is faced with his greatest yet, both physically and mentally.

6 O] a M V ¼ [ V W ^ M T Q K L P M N D / M Q \ Q M Q ] V P M Z Q / Q P W ]
I V L \ R W T K P I X \ W Z Y Z U Q M T Q Q U X W Z \ I V \ W N ] Z \ P M Z C Tortured within an inch of his life, the narrator is forced to not only ask why this is happening to him, also why this is happening to him. The reaction, why is this being done to him? why has his brother-in-arms Man seemingly abandoned him and condoned his torture and pain? *ut the second question is what the conclusion really digs into. Why is this happening to him? What has he done to deserve this? Oe was a sympathizer
P MP W T M \ Q U M J ] \ P M [ M X M W X T M I L T W / W ¼ V [ M M \ M V M U a M W \ Q Z M M _ K E M X \ I [ V ¼ ] T e P W ] O P he killed their people, it was to help the cause, but can he really be considered a communist? what is the point of his role that he played if not to escape his torture, and so on and so forth? As someone has been dancing on the head of a pin throughout the narrative, the idea of identity is already one that is fragile best for the narrator, and his extreme deprivation of sleep, as well as the other tortures he experiences, forces him to reevaluate every aspect of himself. There are many ways Nguyen portrays this splintering of mentality and the failing idea of identity through many changes that is [ M M V Q V VR ZX Z I \ W Z L ] Z Q V O \ P M [ M N Q V I T K P I X \ M Z [ [ ] K P I [ [ ] L L M V K P I V O M Q V point of view between interrogation chapters and the dual nature of the narrator that emerges once the man is released from torture.

Throughout a large portion of the novel the narrator is directly addressing a third party "dear Commandant" (1), in what appears to be a confession. This is revealed to the reader in the conclusion/0.009 0 TTj -0.005 0 TTj -0.008dd (.E<e)7ltspd (ion of )q4o Tw 11.62 0 Td 8w 15b6evs2.327 0 Td (t)Tj 32 (e) pages ramble 0.712 0 TA7. d9 Tw 8r[(h t)0.712 (he )]TJ -0.005 Tw 22.848 0 Td (he2.327 0 T9.658 0 Td [(a)29.62 0(vy monologues of )]TJ 1.436 Tw 78.355 0 Td (t)Tj 0 Tw 2.902 0 twenty-

Z] X \ T a \ W Z R Q V Z L I X M Z [ W V I L L Z M [ [ Q V O \ P M V I Z

Rachel Sizemore

no one

Classism is related to other forms of discrimination such as racism and sexism. These relations might be due in part to system justifying beliefs, which function to maintain the status quo, help people make sense of the world, and allow individuals to feel

K W V Å L M V \ Q V M V O I O Q V O T W V O \ M Z U O W I T [

In the story, among the characters who practice downward classism are Mr. Norrell and Henry Lascelles. Both consider themselves gentlemen, and both treat people unfairly because of the social statuses. Stephen Black, in the other hand, is experiencing internalized classism, as well as John Segundus.

We can see that Mr. Segundus is experiencing internalized classism. It is said in the novel that, "Mr. Segundus did not lack curiosity about Mr.

6 W Z Z M T T ° + T I Z S M 1 V 5 Z ; M O ] V L ] [ ¼ [ U Q V L Q \ [ I Q L 1 ) O M V \ T M U I V Q V 5 Z
 6 W Z Z M T T ¼ [ X W [ Q \ Q W V _ Q \ P I Å V M P W ] [ M I V L I T I Z O M M [ \ I \ M _ Q T T I T _ I a [ J M W N interest to his neighbors and, unless those neighbors are very stupid, they _ Q T T I T _ I a [ K W V \ Z Q ^ M \ W S V W _ I T Q \ \ T M W N _ P I \ P M L W M [ ° + T I Z S M ; M O ] V L ] [
 Q [ W ^ M Z _ P M T U M L L ] M \ W V W \ J M Q V O Q V 5 Z 6 W Z Z M T T ¼ [ V M Q O P J W Z P W W L _ P Q K P Q [ I
 Å V M W V M ? M S V W _ \ P I \ Q \ Q [ I Å V M V M Q O P J W Z P W W L J M K I ] [ M 5 Z 6 W Z Z M T T ¼ [ Å V M
 • A3 Å T 5 @ C Ä P M q U ~ Ö O T t t T ½

In addition to Norrell being a discriminator, Lascelles, too, discriminates against Chidermass. Knowing that Lascelles has a message for him and Norrell, Chidermass says:

» 1 I[S aW] NWZ \PM TI[\ \QUM 5Z 4I[KMTTM[ ¼ [IQL +PQTLMZUI[[ »?QTT aW] OQ^MIUQ[ UQVM'¼ »0W_ LIZM aW] ILLZM[[ I OMV\TMUIV QV []KP I NI[PQWV'¼ )[SML 4I[KMTTM[

WN PMZ _MIT\P <PQ[ _I[ QVLQKI\ML Ja ,ZI_TQOP\ _PMV PM ÅZ[\ KIUM \W [MM
5Z 6WZZMTT \W \MTT PQU IJW]\ 5Q[[ ?QV\MZ\W_VM¼[ LMI\P"

< P Q [ [ P W _ [ P W _ K I Z M T M [ [ P M Q [ I J W ] \ 4 I L a 8 W T M ¼ [ T Q N M I _ W U I V < P M W V T a thing he cares about is his relationship with Sir Walter, the man who works in the government and can help him become the successful magician of
- V O T I V L + W V N M [ [ Q V O N W Z J M Q V O K I Z M T M [ [ _ P M V Q \ K W U M [ \ W 4 I L a 8 W T M ¼ [ T Q N M makes him a misogynistic person.

Fai Alsayegh

W